Jim,

Thanks for the heads-up – I knew that a crane would be on site but I was given the impression that the crane would be in the courtyard. I've already chewed on John about this – they submitted their crane plan to EH&S (not me), and I first got it in my in-box after I went home last night.

On behalf of the contractors, I apologize for the error.

Burt

Hi Burt,

How about a little communication around here. You closed both lots east of Morrill I with 5 handicap parking places. I notice no contractor parking space was needed for today's project. How about a little warning.

Jim
